

Case Study

Gogar Castle near Edinburgh

Client:

Ventrolla Scotland
for private client

Scope of the Project

Renovation of Gogar Castle which had been badly neglected to form a prestigious private dwelling house

Services Provided

Ventrolla Scotland were appointed to restore and improve case and sash by a private client who knew their work. Sashworks made reproductions of any complete windows and individual sashes that had been destroyed.

Key Benefits

All work was carried out to the standards approved by Historic Scotland for such an important listed building.

In line with sound conservation practice, as much of the building's fabric as possible was preserved. Where replacement was necessary, Sashworks manufactured new joinery that was a faithful reproduction of the original in all details.

Access to specialist manufacturing services enabled the clients to undertake a thorough renovation project to the highest specification and preserve the character of their property.
